January 2010---WUMH News and Information

Changes Underway at WUMH:

We want to let you know that WUMH has a new Project Coordinator! Jamie Peterson will take over these duties. Jamie will write more about herself in the future but to say a little about her, she is on staff at the Wisconsin Women's Health Foundation working on the First Breath Program. Marilyn Duguid will continue to be involved in some of the WUMH administration. Theresa Grove, the current WUMH webmaster, will soon take over production of the WUMH Monthly Update. Watch for this to be e-mailed from the WUMH web site when we get the process all formatted.

2010 Quarterly WUMH Meetings: Please mark your calendars.

Friday mornings: March 12, June 11, September 10, and December 10.

Action Alert: Full Senate to Vote on Wisconsin Parity Act (SB-362) in January:

The Wisconsin Senate is preparing to vote on the Wisconsin Mental Health and Substance Abuse Parity Act (SB-362), possibly as early as Tuesday, Jan. 19.

The Wisconsin Parity Act is an important bill that will require most group health plans in Wisconsin to provide mental health and substance abuse disorder benefits at parity levels. This new law will increase treatment for hundreds of thousands of people in Wisconsin, saving lives and lowering costs. For more information on the legislation, visit www.ParityForWisconsin.org.

The Wisconsin Parity Act has passed both the Assembly Committee on Health and Health Care Reform (Dec. 17, by an 8-5 vote along party lines) and the Senate Committee on Health, Health Insurance, Privacy, Property Tax Relief, and Revenue (Dec. 22, by a 5-2 vote with bipartisan support). This is the first time that a parity bill has passed through committees in both houses of the Wisconsin Legislature.

Action Requested

Please call or email your State Senator today and share these educational talking points regarding the Wisconsin Parity Act. If you don't know who your State Senator is, visit www.legis.wisconsin.gov/w3asp/waml/waml.aspx

Talking Points:

The Wisconsin Parity Act will provide equitable mental health and substance abuse treatment benefits for many of the 700,000 Wisconsin residents left uncovered by the federal Paul Wellstone and Pete Domenici Mental Health Parity and Addiction Equity Act of 2008 (P.L. 110-343).

Research has repeatedly confirmed the efficacy and cost-effectiveness of treatment for persons with mental illnesses and substance use disorders.

The Wisconsin Parity Act will NOT lead to a substantial increase in premium costs. A March 4, 2008 study by the Congressional Budget Office (CBO) of the law that became the Wellstone-Domenici Act—the most recent, authoritative, independent, expert analysis of parity's economic impact on private-sector employers—found that parity would increase costs by less than one half of one percent of premium.

The Wisconsin Parity Act recognizes the concerns of small business. Using language consistent with federal guidelines as outlined in the federal Wellstone-Domenici Act, new amendments to the Wisconsin Parity Act will allow employers with fewer than 10 employees to opt out of the parity provision. The amendments also permit larger employers who can show that parity has increased their insurance costs by two percent, and then one percent in later plan years, to opt out as well.

Wisconsin's small businesses cannot afford the costs of untreated mental illness and substance abuse. For a minimal investment, parity will save billions of dollars in reduced sick days, increased worker productivity and decreased health care costs.
